FACT: The martini goes back to the 1880s and is exclusively made with Gin. The exact origin is quite vague but U.S. President Harry S. Truman is famed to have a jar of olives with dry vermouth mixed in, kept in the desk of the oval office for this savoury drink. As the great wars raged on, martini's became drier with less and less vermouth as the countries famed for making vermouth were at war and difficult to come by.
